Sixty Miles to Get Wheat Ground.

Andrew Magoon of Jay was a visitor last week at the home of his nephew, Luke Faufau in West Charleston en route to East Charleston with a load of Indian wheat to be ground. East Charleston seems to be the nearest place, where this particular kind of grain can be attended to. Mr. Magoon traveled in all about sixty miles. This reminds us of the "good old days" of our great-grandparents, who had to go so far to mill.

ANOTHER GLOVER FIRE.

Glover suffered another severe fire early Monday morning when the Glover Mill, owned by W. A. Merriam and Son, was burned to the ground together with a quantity of hay, grain, tools and a pair of horses. The fire apparently started in the horse sheds connected with the mills and when discovered about 2 o'clock Monday morning the sheds and barn were all ablaze and with a strong wind it was impossible even with Glover's new fire-fighting apparatus and every other effort, to save the mill. About $2000 worth of grain was burned and the buildings were valued at $4000 besides the horses, wagons and other tools and equipment. There was only about $2000 worth of insurance. This is the third bad fire Glover has experienced in the past few years.

Foss Wins Again; Republican Wave.

Last week's elections showed something of an ebb in the big Democratic wave of last year. Eugene N. Foss, elected governor of Massachusetts then by a plurality of over 35,000, wins out again but by a lead of only 8,000 over Frothingham, present lieutenant-governor, who headed the Republican ticket. Luce, Republican, beats Walsh for second place by about 7,000. The rest of the state officials and the legislature are Republican. Pothier, Republican governor of Rhode Island, is re-elected by an increased plurality. The Republicans made a clean sweep of the state Assembly elections in New York, turning a present Democratic majority of 24 into one for themselves of over 50. This gives a legislature opposed in politics to Governor Dix. In the city elections, Tammany won by reduced majorities over fusion in Manhattan, while fusion won in Brooklyn. Willet, accused of purchasing the Democratic nomination for judge, was sadly beaten. Governor Wilson met with a setback in New Jersey, whose new legislature will be against him in both branches. From 42 Democrats to 18 Republicans in the present Assembly, there is a change to 38 Republicans and 22 Democrats. Among defeated candidates were several for whom Wilson spoke. In Essex county, where the regular Democratic organization is hostile to Wilson, and whose candidates were in nomination, for whom Wilson would not speak, the Republicans also won. Nebraska gave the Republicans a clean sweep, with the exception of one Congressman. The election in Maryland, where a son of the late Senator Gorman ran for governor on the Democratic ticket, is reported in doubt. Kentucky went strongly Democratic, while the new state of New Mexico is reported to have a Republican legislature which will send two Republicans to the national Senate.

Father's Grief Causes Murder and Suicide.

His mind unbalanced by the recent death of his favorite daughter and by financial difficulties, it is believed, Nathan E. Butterfield of Milton, N. H., Sunday shot and killed G. Cuthbert Williams of York, Pa., at St. Johnsbury, who he believed was being given preference by the superintendent of the United States fish hatchery there, of which Butterfield was foreman and Williams a culturist. He then fatally shot himself. The men, who had worked together at the fish hatchery for two years, had always appeared on the best of terms. But following the death of Butterfield's 21-year-old daughter at Milford, last month, it was noted that he was morose and quick of temper. The fact that Williams came of a reputed wealthy family, his father being Sysman Williams, a prominent railroad lawyer of York, Pa., may also, it was said by acquaintances of the two men, have given rise to a prejudice on the part of Butterfield. The foreman did not appear at the hatchery until just before noon Sunday, having passed the morning in moping about his boarding house. He had never done this before, his landlady said. Butterfield went to the hatchery, which is about two miles outside the village, and found Williams at work in the stable. There were no signs of a struggle. All of the four bullets had entered Williams' body from behind, and it is almost certain that the murderer shot his victim before the latter knew of his presence.

Barton Granite Business.

Gradually Barton granite is finding its way into the market and is becoming known, and so the granite business in Barton is gradually expanding with the prospect in the near future of a more rapid growth and expansion than heretofore. H. Charland of Barre has leased the Barnard quarry which has been the leading quarry for Barton stone for the past few years, for a term of six years, and in the spring expects to install power derricks and much additional equipment at the quarry and greatly increase the output. The quarry will be operated under the name of the Barton Quarries Company. Mr. Charland is a relative of Mr. Roy of the Roy, Asselin Granite company, and the new deal will undoubtedly mean a great impetus to the granite industry here. Prospecting is being continually carried on and good quarries are forthcoming in several places on Barton mountain. Several parties are also interested in locating additional stone sheds in town and it is hoped the cutting end of the business will be expanded soon.

The Ladies' union will hold a chicken pie supper in the M. E. church parlors next week Wednesday, Nov. 22. Supper will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock. Price 25 cents. All are cordially invited.

One of the largest and finest monuments in this section of the state has been set in the Welcome O. Brown cemetery here on the Joslyn lot by Col. S. P. Joslyn of Burlington. It is a Cipro monument, the original of which is in the Vatican at Rome, and was placed there in 298 B. C. The monument is made of West-ly granite by the Western Granite company of Boston and was erected by S. Naclerio of Quincy. The monument weighs nine tons and has 2450 letters carved upon it. It took six horses to pull the base from the freight house to the cemetery.

BEAN PLEADS GUILTY.

Without a sign of emotion Arthur Bean, a 19-year-old Maidstone lad, stood up in the prisoners' cage at the Essex county court-house Monday at Guildhall and pleaded guilty to the charge of murdering his mother and his 15-year old sister Nina. The crime was committed in the Bean home last March with no witnesses present. The indictment to which the lad pleaded today did not fix the degree of murder and tomorrow Judge Fred M. Butler of Rutland, who is presiding, will hear the evidence of the prosecution and decide upon the degree before imposing sentence. With a rifle slung over his shoulder, Arthur Bean entered the home of a neighbor in Maidstone on March 9 and calmly announced that his mother and sister had been shot and killed. He said that he was hunting the murderers. When the neighbors reached the Bean home they found the two women dead on the floor and Mrs. Bean's father, John Sweet, 103 years old, in a closet. The old man's story was to the effect that his grandson had ordered him into a closet under penalty of getting hurt and that later he had heard shots fired. The boy was arrested but stolidly maintained his innocence. It was said at the time that there had been trouble over a small amount of property left by young Bean's father.

Announcement.

We, the G. H. Davis Company, wish to announce that we have sold our entire stock, fixtures, and good will, to C. E. Rollins, of St. Johnsbury. Mr. Rollins is a man of many years' experience in the dry goods business, has been successful in the past and we assure him success in his new undertaking. We wish to thank our many patrons they have given us, and we feel sure that the same will be continued to our successor.

The Monitor will add that Mr. Davis retains ownership of the block and the automobile business, which he will return next summer from California to carry on. Mr. Rollins is a young man with enterprise and capital and a successful mercantile career. We understand the present force of clerks will be retained except Mr. Graves. This store has always been recognized as one of the best stores in this section and Mr. Rollins states that it is his purpose to make the store an even greater dry goods center than it has ever been before.

A clipping from a western paper, contains the following, which will be of interest to the friends of G. Frederic Wheeler. "Mr. George Frederic Wheeler was on our Chautauqua program this year, giving his splendid illustrated lecture, 'The Romance of the Reaper.' We are sure that we voice the judgment of the committee and Chautauqua attendants, when we say that Mr. Wheeler was one of the best numbers on our program this year. Scholarly, eloquent, interesting, educative, worthy a place on the program of every Chautauqua."
